◆ Student, Tochigi Prefectural Utsunomiya Hakuyo Senior High School

I was most impressed with the "love for Japan" of Cambodian people that I found throughout this JENESYS2015 Outbound Program to Cambodia. I realized that when I saw there were many things made in Japan such as cars and cameras everywhere, Cambodian students welcomed us making in a long line at the entrance at our visit to their school, and many of them were smoothly and eagerly speaking Japanese.

I would like to talk about the education and "Food" of Cambodia after my return to Japan. About the education, there were many children who could not go to school, could not go to the next grade, or gave up the school by their poverty. I thank for my going to school every day in Japan and want to convey my message that you shouldn't take it for granted.

About the "Food", I found the hygiene in the market was bad where people were selling food without any wraps being exposed to dust or flies. I want to study more about the Japanese technology and introduce it to improve food sanitation in Cambodia.

What impressed me the most is the warmth that Cambodian people have. I was very impressed to see how fantastically they welcomed us when we arrived at the airport. They also welcomed and accepted us warmly in the school visit programs. I thought it was so splendid that I might not do the same when they came to Japan.

In addition, the Cambodian people took things easy always with a smile, positive, friendly; they were such wonderful people. There were many students eager to learn and some speak English and Japanese fluently. I also learned, on the other hand, the fact that not everyone could study in the same way, but there are children who could not go to school. I want to convey to Japanese people what we can usually do in Japan, such as drinking tap water, eating food safely in any restaurant, studying at school and etc. is not natural in some other countries like Cambodia.

I want to spread my leaning and experience gained throughout the program by caring out our action plan made in cooperation with all the delegates. We will share not only our thoughts and ideas, but also actually implement it and get a positive result. I hope our action will further deepen the relations of the two countries.

I would like to introduce the three events that impressed me most.

First, it is how well they welcomed us Japanese people. We got a good start of the program while being welcomed by many Cambodian people at the airport including the Deputy General Director of General Department of Youth, the officials in charge, and members of local TVs and the press. At the school visits, a lot of people welcomed us at the gate and students gave us presents, and I was very touched by their warm reception.

Next, it is the high motivation for learning of Cambodian students. For me who thought it was natural that I could go to school, I was surprised at their command of English and activeness. I was positively influenced by their attitude of learning to take actual communication with a foreign person, unlike me who I just go to school, and only made a study necessary for a test. I made up my mind to put more emphasis on my English study after returning home.

Lastly, it is what I have seen with my own eyes, the actual situation in Cambodia. I really watched the differences in traffic facilities, wealth and poverty and hygiene management. I found the importance of Japanese assistance and future issues of the country and presented in our action plan called "JAPABODIA". I made up my mind to continue the research in the problem studies. These ten days were so valuable that changed the sense of values of my life and made you step forward. I thank all things, persons whom I was able to meet in this program, and I am sure everything will be the nourishment for my future.
