Synopsis:

On both sides of Saint Mountain, there lay two countries, of which “Orioc” is extremely wealthy, while “Lumbli” is unsightly poor. Zelos Baart, the second prince of Lumbli, had been arranged to marry the princess of Orioc, and to be the future emperor of that prosperous country. However, this 15 years old prince had an other plan of his own. He struggled his way into Orioc, trying to call off this “craven” political marriage. Unfortunately, before he even had the chance to meet with the princess, he was trapped together with the princess’ maid, Ana Basil, and were both cursed by an unknown spell and “shrank” to the size of 10 years old! They could turned back to their original 15 years old self againk, only with the expense of the other becoming 5 more years younger... Someone was behind all these and the princess was in grave danger! Could Zelos and Ana find out what’s going on? Could they break the curse and save both of their countries?
