

Message from Prime Minister

Prime Minister of Japan Shinzo Abe

“Creating a society in which all woman can shine” – this is at the core of the growth strategy which my administration is advancing.

I truly hope that all women – those who have a career, those who take care of the household, and those who work in the international society – can make best use of their talent and ambition.

I will continue to build a nation where every woman can live with confidence and pride and make efforts to fulfill their potential.

WAW! supports women who shine in Japan and around the world.

Following the symposium in Tokyo, events are to be held all over Japan and the world.

Now is the time when women and men who support women should work together to create a society in which all women shine.

“WAW! It’s time to shine.”
