

2026

外務省

Ministry of Foreign Affairs of Japan

Asia Energy Security Seminar

令和7年度アジア・エネルギー安全保障セミナー

2.25 WED
14:00 - 16:00

theme

Free entry (registration required)

The Role of Diplomacy in Energy Security

about

- The Asia Energy Security Seminar, hosted annually by the Ministry of Foreign Affairs, aims to enhance understanding of Japan's initiatives in energy security and the necessity for international cooperation. This year, the Ministry invites experts from the International Energy Agency (IEA), the Japan Institute of Energy Economics (IEEJ), and INPEX Corporation as panelists to discuss the critical role of diplomacy in ensuring energy security, particularly for oil and gas.
- In Part I, each panelist presents, from their own perspectives, the role of diplomacy in oil and gas energy security, illustrating how diplomacy has contributed to a stable energy supply from past to present.
- In Part II, following Part I, the roundtable discusses approaches to future challenges and risks, and the expected roles of diplomacy.

information

Date: February 25, 2026, 14:00 - 16:00

Venue: Comore Yotsuya

Tower Conference Room F

Format: Hybrid

(In-person attendance may be on a first-come, first-served basis due to seat limitations.)

Program

- Opening Remarks
- Keynote Presentation
- Round Table

registration

Please scan here to register.

speakers

Jason Elliott

Head of Energy Security and Emergency Division, International Energy Agency (IEA)

Takafumi Yanagisawa

Executive Analyst, Gas Group Manager, Energy Security Unit, the Institute of Energy Economics, Japan (IEEJ)

Ken Ezuka

General Manager, Corporate Strategy & Planning Unit, Corporate Strategy & Planning Division, INPEX Corporation

moderator

Kenji Shimada

Director, Resource Security Division, Economic Affairs Bureau, Ministry of Foreign Affairs

contact: Resource Security Division, Economic Affairs Bureau, Ministry of Foreign Affairs (+81)3-5501-8000
mail: resource-security-event@mofa.go.jp