NOTES

- 1. The international community confirmed EUR 5.6 billion / USD 6.0 billion in funding to support humanitarian, resilience and development activities in 2017 for the Syria crisis response, which includes pledges towards the Syria Humanitarian Response Plan (HRP), the Regional Refugee and Resilience Plan (3RP), and the ICRC Syria Crisis appeals. This funding also includes support for UNRWA requirements for Palestinian Refugees in Syria outside HRP/3RP and other funding for 2017. It will help to meet the immediate and basic needs of those affected by the humanitarian crisis in Syria, including supporting resilience and development efforts as well as supporting host countries to address the impact of the protracted crisis. These efforts will aim to secure quality education for all children and livelihood opportunities for refugees and affected communities as well as promote basic public services and economic growth for the benefit of all (see table 1).
- The international community confirmed EUR 3.5 billion / USD 3.7 billion in funding for 2. humanitarian, resilience and development activities in 2018 to 2020 for the Syria crisis response. This multi-year commitment by the international community to Syria and neighbouring countries is important in demonstrating a clear commitment to continued support for those most affected by the Syrian crisis and ensuring humanitarian and development agencies are able to plan ahead (see table 1).

¹ This includes pledges reconfirmed from the London 'Supporting Syria and the Region' conference

3. In addition to grants, multilateral development banks (MDBs), and bilateral donors confirmed up to EUR 27.9 billion / USD 30.0 billion of loans of which EUR 2.2 billion / USD 2.3 billion is on concessional terms (see table 2). The terms of some of these loans are yet to be agreed. We urge these to be either on IDA equivalent terms or consistent with the revised OECD DAC principles agreed on 16 December 2014.
