

Summit of Crimea Platform

Video Message by Japanese Prime Minister KISHIDA Fumio

I am KISHIDA Fumio, Prime Minister of Japan.

Let me express my utmost respect for the leadership of President ZELENSKYY, who has organized this summit meeting amid grave difficulties, and emphasize our solidarity with the Government and people of Ukraine.

Russia's aggression against Ukraine is an outrageous act, which has shaken the very foundations of the international order not only in Europe but also in Asia. Japan has consistently supported Ukraine's sovereignty and territorial integrity, including Crimea, and strongly opposes unilateral attempts to change the status quo. In particular, as a Prime Minister who comes from Hiroshima, I will never tolerate the use of, or the threat to use, nuclear weapons.

Japan has implemented strong sanctions against Russia and provided support for Ukraine, including humanitarian assistance, financial support, the provision of defense equipment and the transportation of relief products. Moreover, as I announced at the G7 Summit in Elmau, Japan is going to continue to implement assistance of about 1.1 billion US dollars, including additional grant aid to support the expansion of the Ukraine's grain storage capacity and to respond to the global food crisis.

As Russia's aggression against Ukraine becomes ever more protracted, it is imperative for the international community to demonstrate solidarity in its response. As the leader of the sole Asian G7 member country, I have had successive dialogues with regional leaders such as those of India and Southeast Asian nations, through which we have concurred on the importance of upholding the principles embraced by the international community. Japan will continue to do everything in its power to advance efforts that only Japan can do, including by availing itself of opportunities such as the outreach to African countries on the occasion of 8th Tokyo International Conference on African Development (TICAD8), an initiative of the Government of Japan, to be held in Tunisia this weekend.

As the country holding the G7 presidency next year, Japan, through close collaboration with the international community and by applying its own experience, will do its utmost to help bring about peace and the reconstruction of Ukraine as soon as possible.
