The committee reconfirmed that both sides have fully implemented the actions identified at the first meeting of the CROCRM on 26 June 2019, which had been confirmed and welcomed at the second meeting of the Joint Committee under the EPA held on 1st February 2021. As regards the guidance document on origin criteria, the customs authorities of both sides confirmed their continuing cooperation toward completion of the guidance as well as exchange of each guidance before publication.

The EU presented the overview of the EU-UK Trade and Cooperation Agreement especially in the areas of rules of origin and custom-related matters. Japan also explained the Japan-UK Comprehensive Economic Partnership Agreement and the Regional Comprehensive Economic Partnership Agreement from the same aspects.

The EU suggested setting up a procedure for the consultation referred to in Article 3.24(3) of the EPA; whereas Japan indicated that the existing communication channels including the hotline between the custom authorities of both sides established at the first committee would be sufficient in case any issues arise. Both sides confirmed not to set up a procedure for the time being.

Both Japan and the EU underlined the importance of further deepening their cooperation to facilitate the utilisation of the EPA by economic operators and confirmed that they would hold the next meeting in Brussels as long as circumstances allow.
