From
the People of Japan

As of December 31st, 2016, the Government of Japan has provided grants to the FSM amounting approximately 172 million USD since its inception in 1980. The fields of economic and social assistance vary from education to infrastructure. Japan has implemented these projects on the basis of the FSM's needs.

Grant Assistance for Grass-roots Human Security Projects is a framework that essentially supports local NGOs and local public organizations in order to respond to various development needs in a prompt and precise manner, but on a comparatively small scale (10 million Japanese Yen maximum per project).

Eligible Recipients *Individuals and profit organizations are not eligible.

NGOs and Nonprofit organizations such as local public organizations, educational and medical institutions

*Financial statements of past 2 years need to be submitted with the application form.

Project Areas

Projects mainly cover tangible improvements such as constructing primary and junior high schools and improving fundamental medical equipment at hospitals, etc.

*Projects that are not closely related to economic and social development (such as culture, arts and sports related projects) are not financed by the Grant Assistance for Grass-roots Human Security Projects.

*Even if a project is eligible for the Grant Assistance for Grass-roots Human Security Projects, consumables, small fixtures, and running and maintenance costs of facilities and equipment, etc., are not financed.

Example: Enhancing sustainable solid waste management in Yap State

In order to enhance sustainable solid waste management in Yap state, the Government of Japan has been assisting Yap State Government since 2012. Through these projects, Japan has maintained a public landfill, and provided a 4 ton truck with crane to collect bulky waste and a PET granulator for recycling. In addition, a 5 ton forklift and a glass crusher are expected to be procured in 2019.
