

Japan's Cooperation towards Gender Equality and Women's Empowerment

▶ In order to achieve gender equality and empower women in developing countries, Japan provides assistance in priority areas such as promoting women and girls' rights, creating an enabling environment for women and girls to reach their full potentials, and advancing women's leadership in politics, economy and other public fields.

▶ Japan announced to implement ODA in excess of USD 3 billion over the three years from 2016 to 2018, and has fully implemented its commitment.

▶ At the 5th World Assembly for Women (WAW!), Japan presented its plan to provide at least 4 million women and girls with quality education and human resource development opportunities over the 3 years of 2018-2020.
